GPT Regains 3rd Daily Flight to CLT on US Airways

US Airways will resume its 3rd daily flight to Charlotte Douglas International Airport (CLT) out of Gulfport-Biloxi International Airport (GPT) beginning March 3, 2009. The early morning flight was suspended in October 2008 due to the effects of rising fuel prices and a slowing economy.

“This early morning departure will provide much more convenience and connection opportunities for our passengers,” said Bruce Frallic, AAE, Executive Director of GPT. “We are pleased that US Airways has responded to our strong demand for the return of this flight and look forward to growing their operations in GPT.”

“Over the last two weeks, we have recorded 80-90% loads on our two existing flights,” said Bill Simmons, Station Manager for US Airways in GPT. “With the flights operating at capacity, we welcome the extra flight to meet the growing demand.”

The 3rd daily flight will arrive in GPT at 9:47pm and depart the following morning at 6:00am. For flight schedules, visit usairways.com.
